Weekly/daily/hourly availability:

We are currently operating remotely and “co-work” together via phone and Zoom. Do you have access to a phone and a computer with sufficient data to participate in a video call? Y or N

Have you worked remotely before? Y or N

We are currently seeking intern leads for the following projects:

1. Coloring the Corridor - Environmental science curriculum creation for a coloring workbook for middle school students. The purpose of the workbook is to educate students about what wildlife corridors are and how they benefit wildlife and humans. We are working with local artist Kelly Quinn to create engaging coloring pages that tell the story of various plants and animals within the Florida Wildlife Corridor. Potential tasks for this project include:
 - a. researching existing open source curriculum relevant to the animals and plants already selected for the workbook
 - b. translating data/science for 6 - 8th graders and helping
 - c. selecting interesting/compelling facts to share about each plant/animal/habitat
 - d. meeting virtually with team members
 - e. researching with a Florida Wildlife Corridor staff member for potential funding opportunities to facilitate low-income access of the workbook
2. GIS Mapping - map creation using data from the Florida Ecological Greenways Network and other crucial sources to help communicate Corridor importance to the public. Ex. Corridor priority areas, scrub jay habitat, Florida black bear fatality locations etc.

3. Archived Footage Sorting - We have an extensive amount of B-roll from past films that needs sorting through the lens of an environmental studies background. There are many potential clips and shots within our cache that may help illustrate the ecological value of wildlife corridors and may help tell compelling stories of the flora and fauna within the Florida Wildlife Corridor. Editing is a desired but not required skill.

Which project above are you interested in assisting with?

Are there other skills you're hoping to use or areas of interest you wish to explore during your internship? We cannot guarantee they will be incorporated, but we understand the time and effort you will be putting into this internship and we'd like an understanding of what you intend on getting out of your time with us.

Do you have a favorite place in wild Florida? This can be a hike/camping spot/kayak route etc. If so, tell us a little about that space and what makes it special to you.
